WHY NOT HAVE GIRL SCOUTS OF AMERICA

LASSIES AS WELL AS LADDIES

PLYMOUTH PROSPECTS

Many people who like girls are just a little jealous of the great amount of attention being paid to the boys, in the Boy Scout movement, and the almost absolute neglect of the girls. If we would develop a higher type of being in the next generation, we must not overlook the girls for they are to have a part in our future civilization and the level to which they rise will be largely the stratum on which the boys will bivouac. Why all this over proportion of effort being expended on our juvenile males? Is it because they need it more, because we love them best, because they are more worth saving, because if nothing is done for them they are more likely to go astray, or is it merely "because?"

No unprejudiced person will concede that it is any of the above reasons but the latter. Our growing girls need something interesting to do. When a girl has outgrown the stage of mud pies, dolls and playing house, there is liable to come a void into her life and this at the critical age when she is most restless, most in need of new diversions, and most lonesome for companionships. Unless some "safe and sane" associations, some wisely directed club life, some vigorous activities are provided for her she will develop into either the rapid passy cat sort who "sits around," or wandering abroad in search of more active interests, she is in danger of falling into all sorts of errors.

"Something to do" is the craving of young life, and the one who does not want something to do will not amount to a row of pins. What have our Plymouth girls to do but to "run the streets" for diversions? True, have taken care of themselves well. They are as modest, as capable, as charming as are to be found anywhere and yet the lack of wholesome entertainment is a dangerous thing to permit.

There is an organization for girls similar to the Boy Scouts and Mr. Powell who recently organized the boys' chapters in Plymouth is familiar with it. Many people who know of this are awaiting eagerly his return in the hope that he will organize a like splendid association for our girls. Two Plymouth teachers have expressed themselves as willing to give their services gratuitously to such a cause. No doubt there are many similarly minded.

In New York state is an organization known as the Girls' Athletic League. Twenty thousand girls, between the ages of eight and fourteen, belong to it. Its purpose is to foster exercise for thousands of misses who need more vigorous diversions. Mrs. James Speyer, a teacher, is the founder. She believes that the first requisite for a person is to be a good animal. "The mental and physical superiority of the American woman," says Mrs. Speyer, "is due largely to her training in athletics. Health is healthy to a great extent and of course the health and physical development of the school girl means the welfare of the race.

"This league was everized because we found that while everything possible was being done for the promotion of the boys' athletics, no attention was being paid to the athletic training of girls. We were organized as an auxiliary to the boys' league. Our first difficulty was with the girls themselves.

"We did not find anything which really interested them until folk dancing was introduced. The idea of health and exercise is more acceptable to girls if it is accompanied by the idea of beauty. Men and women are continually studying the youngsters in the hope of finding those games which will interest them most and at the same time yield the maximum of exercise that makes for health and growth. Athletic fetes are held annually and those girls who have been declared by physicians, physically fit, compete for prizes and honors. A certain standard of scholarship is also required."

No Huckleberry Crop This Year.
Can you realize what it means? No good old-fashioned huckleberry pie for us this season. No; for the hard rain of last Saturday spoiled it all. The old saying is "Let it rain on June 24th and there will be no huckleberries that year." Any old settler will cheerfully affirm that this is only too true. Why? Even J. W. Siders, one of our oldest inhabitants himself agrees to it and is informing everyone as to what they may expect. Now if any one knows surely it is he, our famous weather prophet and story-teller. Mr. Siders tells us how when he first came here, a good many years ago (he won't mention the exact number) the "oldest inhabitant" told him what to expect should it rain on June 24th. And it did! What happened? Why the biggest crop of "hucks" for many a year! But then, the "oldest inhabitant" explained all that by saying that the berries had ripened before the storm and so couldn't grow backwards to fulfill the prophecy.

But the question is, What about this year? Shall we eat huckleberry pie or shall we substitute prunes? Did the berries "get ripe before the rain" or are they gradually withering away? Huckleberries are already in the market and only 15c a quart at that. We have all heard the stories about cherries and strawberries. And on several occasions our prophets have hit it right. In a few days we shall be able to see whether they are right this time or not. Put, of course, all must understand that if we should accidentally have a big crop of "huckleberries" it will not be the old inhabitants that are wrong. Far be it from such. It will be the fault of the berries where they are so cheerfully ripened although all prophecies were against this course of action.

SLAP FRENCH MINISTRY
Chamber of Deputies' Vote Indicates Lack of Confidence.

Premier Monis Decides to Resign and His Associates Will Probably Follow Suit.

Paris, June 24.—The French ministry was defeated in the chamber of deputies by a vote of 248 to 228. As the question of confidence was involved in the vote, the resignation of the ministry is anticipated.

Premier Monis has decided to resign. He could not do it at once, as President Fallieres is at Rome, attending the celebration there. The recent cabinet was formed on March 2, with M. Monis as premier. He succeeded M. Aristide Briand, whose cabinet resigned Feb. 27.

The debate in the chamber previous to the vote arose over a speech made by General Goiran, the minister of war, in the senate on Tuesday, in which he said that in time of peace the office of generalissimo, commander-in-chief of the army, did not exist.

General Goiran added to this the declaration that in time of war the supreme direction would be in hands of the council of ministers. The speech created much excitement throughout the country in spite of the efforts of Premier Monis to explain it away.

The first person named as a successor to Monis is Georges Clemenceau. Others mentioned are Alexandre Millerand and Raymond Poincaré.

ADVERSE REPORT FROM COMMITTEE
Quick Action on Farmers' Free List and Wool Bills.

GORE IN SARCASTIC SPEECH
Thanks Finance Committee for Complimentary Promptness—Senate Discusses Canadian Reciprocity Bill.

Washington, June 23.—The farmers' free list bill and the Underwood wool bill, which had come over from the house, were reported adversely by the senate finance committee.

The action was taken as the result of the passage by the senate twenty-four hours earlier of the Gore resolution directing a report to the senate not later than July 10. The bills went upon the calendar and will come up later.

Senator Gore, author of the resolution which brought the two bills out of committee, made a brief speech, full of sarcasm, in which he thanked the finance committee for their prompt response to the resolution.

Senator Culberson of Texas introduced a resolution directing the committee on privileges and elections to investigate and report to the senate the amount of money that was contributed by persons, corporations or firms to each of the political campaign committees in 1904 and 1908.

The senate took up and discussed the Canadian reciprocity bill. Senator Smoot defended schedule K. Senator Nelson spoke in opposition to Canadian reciprocity and Senator Cummins stated his reasons for opposing the Root amendment.

Offers Pure-Food Bill.
Washington, June 23.—Senator McCumber introduced a bill amending the pure food and drugs act, to conform with the recommendations made to congress by President Taft.

WORK ON THE MAINE
Exposed Part of Wreck Is Being Scraped and Cleaned.

Havana, June 24.—A small pump maintains the water about the Maine at the level of twelve feet below the water outside the cofferdam, while the work of calking, filling and balancing the cofferdam continues. At the same time the exposed part of the ship is being cleaned.

A six pounder has been found amidships with sundry swords and other articles. No new developments are expected.

BY BIG FIRE

HOUSE ON SOUTH STREET
OWNED BY J. A. MOLTER
BURNS DOWN

SMALL INSURANCE

Dwelling Was Occupied by Family of Frank Mills, Who Were Not at Home at the Time

The two-story frame dwelling on South street which belonged for years to the late Mrs. Pohl, caught fire Friday night between 8:30 and 9 nearly burning to the ground. The building was formerly a boarding house but is now a two family dwelling. Frank Mills, a plasterer lived in the east half the other half being unoccupied at present.

It is thought the fire started in the kitchen. Although there had been no fire in the range since noon, the chimney could easily have become overheated and a slowly burning fire started, which made no headway until it came in contact with the wood. The stove was set close to the wall. A lamp had been left burning on the kitchen table and at first it was thought by some that the fire might have started in this way but it is reported by one of the first on the scene that the lamp was left burning until the roof caved in.

The building is an old one and when it once caught fire burned like so much tinder. The back part of the house was almost burnt to the ground.

All of the Mills family were away from home at the time. Mr. Mills being in Argos and the rest of the family were down-town. They did not know it was their home that was in flames until they with the hundreds of other curious and excited people reached the scene of the conflagration.

For this reason there was considerable delay in sending in the alarm. After the alarm had been sent in a second delay was due to the fact that no horses were available for the hose cart as one of them had been hired out. Also several of the firemen were at the theatres and thus were hindered in reaching the engine house.

However when the boys did get there they did remarkably quick work and it was not long before the fire was under control. Fortunately very little breeze was blowing and so the near by buildings were not so greatly endangered as they might have been.

Most of the furniture had been saved before the fire was at its height, although much of it was water soaked and some few pieces were destroyed by fire.

What was saved was stored in the old planing mill over night and early this morning the former occupants of the place moved into the first house north of the Church of God on Water street.

Mr. Miller had $300 insurance on his goods, while J. A. Molter, the owner of the building, had but $500 on the house. Mr. Molter had intended to remodel the dwelling in the near future and for this reason had not carried a larger insurance. The exact loss can not be determined at this time but will no doubt exceed the amount of insurance.

It was remarkable that so great a number of people reached the place so soon. But that part of the sky was lit up and this was noticed by many before the whistle was heard. Then as usual everyone rushed to the scene of excitement.

PUMPING IS SUSPENDED
Other Work Now Being Done About Wreck of the Maine.

Havana, June 23.—The pumping out of the water inside the cofferdam about the wreck of the battleship Maine has been suspended while other work is being carried on. Members of the board of engineers say that it was their intention to pump out all of the water at once and that they do not expect to encounter any difficulty.

As the water is pumped out from time to time, they are balancing and trimming the cylinders by dumping stone. It is probable that the water will not all be pumped out and the mud cleared away within the next two months.
